OSS Watch · Torchbox
and
The Apache Software Foundation

- present -

· BarCamp Apache Oxford, 2009 ·

4-5 April, University Club, Mansfield Road

barcamp.org/BarCampApacheOxford

BarCamp Apache Oxford is an informal get-together for people involved in computing and technology-related fields. Free to attend and open to all, the BarCamp depends on the participation of attendees. All attendees are encouraged to:

- present (informally or formally) about your favourite project
- hack together a mashup with other attendees' systems
- play devil's advocate in a lively debate
- have a drink with someone you have never met before

The topics are not fixed in advance, but we encourage engagement with:

- Open development techniques and practices
- Web 2.0-style data mash-ups
- Use of and engagement with The Apache Software Foundation's projects

To sign up, or get more details, please visit the web site.